Jennifer Styzens

Jennifer Styzens has over 20 years of experience in the field of developmental disabilities and autism and received her Master's Degree at St. Cloud State University. Formerly, she served as the Director of Client Services for Straight Talk Clinic, Inc. which provided residential and day treatment services to adults with developmental disabilities, and worked as a parent trainer for the Behavior Therapy and Learning Center, which furnishes training to parents of children with developmental disabilities. She has been a staff member of Autism Partnership since 1997. Ms. Styzens has presented at national and international conferences in the areas of behavioral treatment, autism and social/sexual issues and intervention. Over the past 20 years, she has provided consultation to residential and day programs, school districts, families and other related agencies and is a special education teacher for a middle school model classroom.

Advanced Behavior Management

Presented by: Jennifer Styzens, M.S., BCBA

For those who have a basic knowledge of ABA strategies, this workshop will expand your ability to utilize more advanced behavioral terminology and develop intervention plans with comprehensive reactive and proactive strategies.

This 2-day workshop will include:

- Didactic and experiential format
- Behavioral scenarios to demonstrate ABA strategies and techniques
- Functional assessment issues
- Development of intervention plans designed to reduce disruptive behavior
- Development of intervention plans designed to teach replacement behaviors

Who Should Attend:

Clinicians, parents and teachers with sufficient knowledge of autism

"I learned how much early intervention and consistency can make a difference."
