Teaching Interactions: A Conversational Approach to Intervention

Presented by: Michele Jessner, M.A., MFT

There's more to Applied Behavioral Analysis than Discrete Trial Teaching! Attend this workshop to learn natural teaching strategies for Children with Autism Spectrum Disorder. This conversational, behavioral approach is ideal for children who have well developed conversational and cognitive skills. Participants will learn to help a child accept a rationale for change and master skills such as stress management, problem-solving and social skills issues.

This 2-day workshop will include:

- Discussion and video demonstration
- Role play scenarios
- Hands on practice with students

Who Should Attend:

Clinicians, parents and teachers of children with high functioning autism

"I can utilize these strategies with my students."
